School to Inform Parents if Their Student Receives a Threat

"It has always been our practice to keep parents informed if their son or daughter receives a serious threat of violence or harm at school, but it is important for you to know about procedures we have implemented to comply with recent changes in State Law.

"Oregon law requires schools to inform parents if their son or daughter's name appears on a targeted list (i.e., a "hit list") that threatens violence or harm, or when he or she receives a threat of violence or harm from another student. We will be using the following procedure to inform you if your student either receives or makes a serious threat of violence or harm.

"If your son or daughter's name appears on a list threatening violence or harm, or if he or she receives other threats of violence or harm by another student, we will attempt to meet with you personally, or talk by telephone, within 12 hours of learning about the threat. We will tell you about the threat, who made it (if we know), and the action we are taking to respond to it. We will also send you a notice within 24 hours, stating that you son or daughter did receive a threat. Our number one priority will be to make sure that school is safe for your children.

"If your son or daughter made the threat, we will let you know that he or she made it and the action we are taking, including informing the parents of the student who received a threat that your student made. We are also required by the district's Student Rights and Responsibilities Handbook to inform the police."

AN IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PARENTS ABOUT EDUCATION RECORDS AND THE RELEASE OF DIRECTORY INFORMATION
August 2011

The following statement is a summary of school regulations regarding education records. School Board Policy contains the district's detailed rules and regulations. You may review or receive a copy at each school and at the Education Center, 200 North Monroe Street.

1. Confidentiality of Education Records: All education records are confidential and may be opened for inspection only in accordance with federal and state law and school board policy.

2. Inspection of Education Records: Students and their parents or legal guardians have the right to inspect their own education records and to challenge the content of the records. Once the student reaches age 18, these rights transfer to the student alone. When parents are separated and no legal custody has been awarded, or when a parent has been designated a non-custodial parent by a court order, the following procedure shall apply, unless otherwise provided by a court decree or order:

- a. Each parent, or a representative of a parent if authorized in writing by the parent, may inspect and review the education records of that parent's child.
- b. Each parent has a right to question the appropriate licensed staff and make reasonable requests for explanations and interpretations of the student records. Licensed staff is not required to respond to requests by parent representatives for explanations or interpretations of the records.

3. Amending Education Records: Parents or legal guardians or students, once the student has reached the age of 18, have the right to request an amendment of the student's education records to ensure that they are not inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy or other rights.

4. Release of Education Records: Generally, parents or students, if the student is 18 or is attending an institution of higher education, must consent to the release of all education records. The school district, however, may release education records without consent in the following instances:

- a. To the officials of another school district or an institution of post secondary education in which the student seeks to enroll or has already enrolled (District 4J forwards education records that are requested by a new school district or educational agency no later than ten days after receipt of the request);
- b. To school board members during an executive session closed to the public to consider the expulsion of a student or to examine confidential medical records;
- c. To other school district employees who have a legitimate educational interest in the records;
- d. To state and federal governmental agencies requiring such information;
- e. In connection with a student's application for or receipt of financial aid;
- f. To organizations conducting studies on behalf of the school district;
- g. To accrediting organizations if the information is needed to carry out their accrediting functions;
- h. To parents of a dependent student;
- i. To comply with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena after the district has made a reasonable attempt to notify the parent; and
- j. For emergency situations involving the health or safety of the student or other persons.

5. Directory Information: The district may also release directory information in conjunction with a school or school district activity. This means that directory information will not be treated as a public record, unless its release is related to what the administrator believes to be a school-related activity. "Directory Information" is defined as the student's and parent or guardian's name, address, and telephone listing, the student's photograph, date and place of birth, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height if a member of an athletic team, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the school most recently attended by the student. Parents may limit the release of directory information and will be notified annually of this right. Directory information relating to students no longer in attendance may be released without the foregoing notice to parents.

6. Complaints: You may file a complaint with the Family Policy Compliance Office, United States Department of Education, Washington, DC 20202, if you believe the district has failed to comply with the requirements of the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.
